

STORAGE MEDIUM FOR DATA

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0062] A method for determining the water strain of an article is provided in the present invention by predetermining a maximum tilt range and radius for the article. Further embodiments of the present invention include a storage medium for data and a polymer for use in a storage medium for data where the storage medium comprises a plurality of layers wherein the aforementioned water strain is calculated for the plurality of layers.

5

09943767-083404